Gentlemen:

RE: Sait's Government and Politics of France

You have in your collection a couple of large bronze plaques with head of France. One of these shows France wearing a helmet, the front part of which is in the shape of a cock. Do you have on hand a photograph of this plaque? If you do not we shall not want to have you go to the trouble of having a photograph made. We have a photograph of a similar plaque in the Metropolitan Museum, though this plaque is perhaps not quite so effective as the one that you have. If you have such a photograph and World Book Company uses it, credit will be given to the Society in our forthcoming book on French government.

Very truly yours

E. S. Green

I make this inquiry because as a coin collector I should be pleased to credit American Numismatic Society for a picture. I should be glad also to give the Metropolitan Museum of Art credit, but we have opportunity to do that much more often.

Dear Sir:

In response to your letter of June 8th, I am enclosing a small folder which illustrates the head I think you mean. I thought we had a photograph on hand for it but such does not seem to be the case. If you will let me know the size to which you would like to have it reduced, we can very easily have it photographed for you at a cost of, approximately, One Dollar and fifty cents. ($1.50).

I appreciate your thought that the Society might benefit by the credit which you would give for the reproduction, and awaiting your reply, I beg to remain

Gentlemen:

I am having mailed to you a complimentary copy of Skilling's "Nature-Study Agriculture." I believe you will be interested to see in this book the picture of the coin of Metapontum on the copyright page. Under the topic "Wheat", I included a brief footnote concerning the coin.

I am glad that Mr. Noe was so well-pleased with the results in Professor Sait's "Government and Politics of France" where we used a photograph of Bottee's ~~Medallion~~ "France", for the frontispiece. The photograph was made from the ~~Medallion~~ in your collection.

Sincerely

In each of these cases, I was responsible for the "coin" picture. I edited the Skilling book - in fact, just about wrote it from the author's material. Did the work on the coin book also.

THE COIN COLLECTION

*E.S. Allen
York, N.Y.
Dec. 1, 1920.*

Here glitter Darius's daric
And Haroun-al Raschid's dinar,
Coins stamped with a dolphin, a carrick,
A rose or a crown or a star;
Bright pieces that honor some hero,
A lion, a bee or a horse,
A saint or a tyrant like Nero,
The beautiful mixed with the coarse.

Here twinkle the mohur, the stater,
Of young Alexander the Great
And a barbarous copy struck later
In Britain's then barbarous state;
The "byzant," the "rider," the "leopard,"
The "angel," the "noble," the "crown;"
Coins Isaac of York used to jeopard
When the choice was to lend or to drown.

Coins there are here of the mintage
Of Croesus, the tyrant of old;
Coins--they are leas of the vintage
Of Midas whose touch was of gold:
For each is a cynical token
That man and his money must part;
That, losing it, he will be broken;
That, hoarding it, hard grows his heart.

Gentlemen:

In 1904 I wrote and Dr. Heath published in the Numismatist, a little screed entitled The Grinning Mouth. It was boyish stuff about a coin of Parium. I seem to have lost my old copy of this Numismatist. Do you have one in your files? If so, might I see it some Sunday afternoon and copy it? I called at the Society's building on Easter Sunday, but found it closed.

I inclose impression of a seal that I have just had cut following that coin of Parium. (Do not bother to return it.)

I wish to thank you for the courtesy extended to me on previous occasions, as when you furnished photograph of medallion.

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of March 30th, and I think the seal of which you sent me an impression is very good indeed.

I looked to see if we had a duplicate of the article in the Numismatist you mention, but I regret that we have not. The article is in the September 1904 issue.

The building will be again open in a few weeks when we shall be holding an exhibition of material relating to Napoleon and would be glad to have you arrange to come down any Sunday afternoon then.

Dear Sir:

Your favour of July 14th at hand.

I have made out a card proposing you for membership in our Society. The next meeting of the Council is not before the first week in September and your application will be placed before them at that time. In the meantime, we will hold your subscription for 1921 ($5.00) for which we thank you, and will notify you upon election.

Your question as to the metal of which the Ancients made their dies has never been wholly settled because no genuine dies have come down to us from ancient times. They without doubt used steel, also hardened bronze. I regret that I am unable to tell you more regarding the matter.

Very truly yours,

P.S. Owing to the length of time which must elapse before the September Council meeting, we take pleasure in forwarding to you all the 1921 publications to which you will be entitled upon election instead of holding same until your application is formally put forward and accepted.

I am sending you $5.00 to pay for a bronze membership medal that I should like to have you issue to me. The engraving, I suppose, should consist simply of my name -
Elmer Green

Perhaps the date, 1921, should also appear. This is not essential, and I leave it to you to decide whether or not to include the date.

If you could furnish this medal in a plain bronze finish, I should prefer it that way. I do not like the wash finish that I saw on the bronze medal that you have on exhibition. I prefer the finish on the silver specimen. It occurred to me that you might furnish the medal in a bronze finish that would correspond to the finish on that silver medal.

Gentlemen:

Perhaps next week either my wife or I will call to consult with you about this Mexican-Philippine medal and that Italian publication on papal coins.

I think that I was entirely wrong in supposing that this publication on papal coins came from "Zeccl." I have another publication ~~on the same subject~~ also bearing the imprint "R. Zecca." This came with the matter on papal coins. It looks so much like a private publication that I assumed it was such, and then remembered the name wrongly.

Chiefly, I wanted your advice on the Mexican-Philippine medal to help me decide whether or not to part with it to Mr. Gilbert S. Perez of the Philippine Islands. Mr. Perez is extremely keen to get the piece. If I retain it, it will probably ultimately reach the Society's museum. I am not concerned about the commercial value that the piece may have.
